Pound Hitler's Plants 17th Day

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—A thousand American bombers and fighters smashed at German installations in northern France today in a powerhouse sendoff to the 17th straight day of the Allied pre-invasion air offensive.

Sustaining the campaign overnight, RAF heavy bombers had blasted a great German ammunition dump at Maintenon, 37 miles southwest of Paris, and two more rail targets in France in their fifth straight night attack.

Up to 500 Fortresses and Liberators and an equal number of escorting Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters made up today's force sent out by the U. S. Air Force based in Britain—its 14th attack in 15 days.

American pilots found the weather none too good and some formations brought their bombs home rather than drop then uncertainly and endanger French civilians. Other groups found holes in the overcast and reported satisfactory bombing.

"We didn't encounter a German fighter," reported Fortress Tail Gunner Sergt. Harry Shirey, Elwood City, Pa. "What little flak we saw was off in the distance."

"Our escort was beautiful," commented Tail Gunner Sergt. Harland Paul of Portland, Ore., "they laid right out there to give us plenty of protection. The flak wasn't bad."

Bostons and Mitchells of the RAF Second Tactical Air Force opened today's offensive, bombing rail targets in France, under under escort of Spitfires.

The British night blow followed closely the blasting 3000 Allied planes delivered yesterday against anti-invasion targets in France.

Targets of the RAF's railroad-busters who wound up two straight months of almost continual hammering at junctions on lines supplying Nazi forces crouching behind Hitler's Atlantic Wall, were Acheres near Paris and Somain, a coal-field town near the Belgian border.

Allies Hammer Genoa for 3d Night

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 1 (AP) — Allied bombers blasted the big port of Genoa for the third straight night last night after a fleet of more than 500 heavy bombers rained explosives on the Milan railyards and other targets in northern Italy, headquarters announced today.

Topping off 72 hours of blows on shipping and communications in Italy, the night bombers also hammered the much-bombed west coast Port of Livorno (Leghorn) and struck Monfalcone, near the Adriatic Port of Trieste.

Heavy bombers hit a plane factory at Milan and others at Bresso and Barese, struck rail targets at Castelmaggiore and Allessandria and dug up an airfield at Reggio Emilia during more than 1750 sorties from which five planes of the Allied Mediterranean air force failed to return. Twelve enemy planes were destroyed.

D-Date as Set Can't Be Shifted

By EDWARD D. BALL

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—At the beginning of May, statistically most favorable for invasion from a weather standpoint, only one thing seemed certain about the forthcoming great venture—the approximate date was decided long ago and the timetable worked out in minutes, even seconds.

Records covering a number of years show the weather in the English channel ordinarily gets better each month from January through May. Through many years May has seen less fog and fewer gales at both ends of the channel—the Scilly islands on the west and Dungeness on the east.

These averages show less than five hours of gales in the Scilly area in May and less than eight in the Dungeness area.

From mountains of meteorological and other statistics a schedule has been worked out.

There are schedules for the assembly of a vast naval force, thhe massing of a huge armada of merchant shipping and londing craft in the thousands, the movement of hundreds of thousands of troops and vehicles to their various rendezvous.

Thousands of planes for the air umbrella must be worked into the intricate timetable. It also is conceivable air-borne troops on a scale never before dreamed of may be put down at precise times to destroy even communications and prevent the dispatch of his reinforcements to critical points.

As the hour to strike draws near the Allied armies in Britain stand ready.

The time for the lunge against the continent—which British Labor Minister Bevin said Saturday he knew, but wasn't telling—presumably was agreed on by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin at Teheran.

Having reached their conclusion, the time fixed is virtually irrevocable. There can be no putting it back or forward haphazardly because of the very nature of such a gigantic undertaking.

Today the Germans kept up their wild guesses as to the date, and the Allies maintained their silence.

Burma AEF Hurls Tanks

By THOBURN WIANT

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, May 1 (AP)—Two years after taking a "hell of a beating" in Burma, Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell has recaptured almost half the Mogaung valley of Northern Burma and has sent into action the first all-American tank unit to fight on the Asiatic continent, it was disclosed today.

Announcement medium tanks are spearheading Stilwell's drive down the valley increased hope that "Vinegar Joe" could reach the town of Mogaung before the monsoon rains begin in about two weeks. The main Jap base in northern Burma, Myitkyina, as 40 miles east of Mogaung.

Stilwell's Chinese spearheads are reported at Manpin, 32 miles northwest of Mogaung, and the American tanks rolled into battle for the first time at Inkangahtawng, 12 miles northwest of Manpin.

CAPTURE ROAD TOWN

A communique disclosed Warazup, five miles above Inkangahtawng, on the valley's only truckable road, had been in Stilwell's hands 10 days.

News the American unit, employing medium tanks, had gone itno action came on the second anniversary of the beginning of Stilwell's retreat from Burma.

Stilwell's forces now are threatening not only the enemy base at Mogaung, but also the stronghold of Myitkyina. Advices from the front said hi stroops east of the Mogaung valley were only 45 road miles north of Myitkyina.

From the battle front in Northern India, meanwhile, came reports the Japs are massing for an all-out assault on Imphal, main Allied base on the Manipur plain.

JAPS FACE ROUT

An Allied spokesman said the Japs, faced with dwindling supplies, must either attack shortly in an effort to improve their position or make an ignominious withdrawal. The enemy's invasion of India has been too strongly ballyhooed for him to withdraw without suffering great loss of face, the spokesman added.

Sixty miles north of Imphal, in the Kohima area, Allied troops were reported making progress to complete the reduction of enemy resistance.

Today's communique said Allied trops were continuing operations in the Kohima area "in difficult country against strong enemy positions," while south in the Imphal sector Jap resistance stiffened north of Kanglatongbi.

Allied planes again struck targets throughout Burma.

CHINA — Jap troops, in a new drive reach Yingshang and move south from the Chenghsien-Lienyun railroad. Chinese are holding in the Yingshang area and have gained in the Mihsien sector.

Chinese field reports admitted today the fall of historic Hulao Pass, ancient battleground guarding the way to Loyang in Honan Province. This is a distinct blow to the Chinese.

An eight day battle preceded loss of the Pass, a small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides. It fronts the Yellow river north of the Lunghai railway, from which the Japanese had removed the tracks.

The invaders were reported to have begun an immediate fortification o the Pass, rushing preparations for a possible drive on Loyang.

Chungking headquarters have reported a new enemy offensive in northern China apparently aimed at helping other Japanese columns break the Chinese hold on a 150-mile segment of the north-south Peiping-Hankow railroad. This new drive, Chinese headquarters said, has reached the vicinity of Yingshang, 120 miles east of the railroad and 150 miles northeast of Hankow.

Ground fighting, meanwhile, was subsided in the [illegible]

Fifth Airforce planes hammered two Japanese airstrips in the Schouten islands, 250 miles northwest of Hollandia, wrecked installations with a 77-ton shower and destroyed possibly 20 enemy planes.

Other planes pounded Wewak with an 85-ton blow, hit Rabaul with 30 tons and the Hansa Bay coast of New Guinea with 26 tons.

American warships boldly steamed 120 miles northwest of Hollandia to pump 75 tons of explosives into Japanese installations at Wake Island, after planes [illegible] raised the area with a 51-ton

Stalin Asks K. O. West Blow

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—Premier Marshal Stalin, in a May Day pronouncement, declared today the Red army and the Allied armed forces must launch simultaneous onslaughts from East and West to finish off "the wounded German beast in his own den."

"There can be no doubt that only a combined blow such as this will be able finally to crush Hitlerite Germany," Stalin declared in a broadcast order of the day.

Stalin said that "under the blows of the Red Army, the bloc of Fascist states is cracking and tumbling down," and exhorted the peoples of Romania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria to "take the matter of their liberation from the German yoke into their own hands."

Stalin said that American and British troops "are holding the front against the Germans in Italy and are diverting part of the German forces from us."

He asserted, however, that the Red Army's successes would have been obliterated if the troops "had not been supported by the whole of the Soviet people."

2 Somerville Priests Freed

Two courageous Somerville priests, prisoners of the Japs for more than a year, were liberated in Hollandia by American forces who rescued 123 missionaries and others, including nuns, the Army disclosed today.

Freedom came to the Rev. William F. Hagan of Rush st. and the Rev. Michael J. Clerkin of Ibbetson st. in the first rescue of prisoners fron. the Japs ever effected by American fighting men.

Three days after American troops landed and hurled their might into attack, the Japs fled so precipitously they abandoned much equipment, but they forced the nuns and missionaries, some of whom were more than 60 years old, to carry heavy burdens for them.

AB NDON NUNS IN SWAMP

When the nuns and other women faltered and fell exhausted after six miles of forced retreat, the Japs abandoned their prisoners in a swamp.

American troops, meanwhile, were pressing on. They found Fr. Hagan and Fr. Clerkin, gaunt and thin, leading three weary American nuns toward safety. The nuns were members of the order of Servants of the Holy Ghost.

Fr. Clerkin, who had been compelled to cook for the Japs, told an International News Service reporter, Frank Robertson:

"It's wonderful! We just went nuts when we saw good Americans again! And you should have seen those Japs run! They were terrified. They threw away equipment as the going got heavy and the officers used even ceremonial swords as walking sticks."

Some of the nuns, who had been in New Guinea more than 40 years, had never had an automobile ride until the Japs took over in their fields. They told the rescue party: "God bless you all; we will be praying for you." They added they hoped to resume their work when they recover.

Some of the nuns, who had been in New Guinea more than 40 years, had never had an automobile ride until the Japs took over in their fields. They told the rescue party: "God bless you all; we will be praying for you." They added they hoped to resume their work when they recover.

Lane Leads House Fight For Jobless Vet Aid

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 1—Rep. Thomas J. Lane of Massachusetts today announced that he will lead a fight on the floor of the House for inclusion in the "GI bill of rights" of the full year unemployment compensation provision which is opposed by Chairman John E. Rankin of the House Committee on Veterans' Legislation.

Lane's announcement came while Rankin's committee members threatened open revolt against what they termed "delaying action" by the committee head. The Massachusetts congressman said a floor fight was certain, when the bill is reported to the House either today or tomorrow, "regardless of the action of Rankin's committee."

Meanwhile, the National Ass'n of Real Estate Boards today placed its entire organization at the disposal of GI Joe and Jane to prevent them from being "gypped" when they come home from war.

ASKS FOR TEETH

The association named John G. Emery, past national American Legion commander, as head of a committee to put teeth into protections offered veterans under the bill. Emery said the services of a thousand expert appraisers would be available to veterans.

"Very few veterans are experts at appraisement," Emery declared. "We don't want some boy, fresh from the Army, paying $5000 for a home that's worth only $2500. We don't want him to be gypped."

Rankin, who is opposed to the full 52 weeks of unemployment compensation provided for in the veterans' bill, is understood to favor a "clean" or new measure, but the members of his committee have indicated they will report out the bill passed by the Senate.

A "clean" bill would automatically be known as the Rankin bill, and if such a measure is passed it will inevitably result in a clash between the House and the Senate which passed the original "GI Bill of Rights" before the Easter holidays.

PRESTIGE LOST

Rankin has lost considerable prestige as a result of the way he has handled the situation, and members of his committee were reported to be on the verge of open revolt at his dictatorial attitude.

Race Angle Blamed For Vet Bill Delay

In delaying action on the veterans' GI Bil lof Rights, Rep. Rankin of Mississippi is "only thinking of his own district and the racial question," Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, charged today on his arrival in Boston.

Ketchum came here, accompanied by Staff Sergt. Robert L. Ashworth, 25, of Pittsburgh, wounded Tunisia veteran, to attend the VFW's May Day celebration today on Boston Common.

Ashworth, with a bad leg injury caused by a land mine, came with Ketchum to tell some of his experiences. He is now training [illegible] rehabilitation program.

"Yet, under Rankin's argument —to allow continuance of pay for six to 12 months—the veteran would be allowed to draw his full rate of pay in or out of the South. If Rankin's argument is solid, [illegible]

Wives Aid in Drive For Offices' Paper

As the Advertising Club of Boston's business office waste paper campaign got off to a flying start today, drive officials appealed to Greater Boston housewives to instruct their husbands in the art of "good office housecleaning."

Mrs. Jeanne Ambuter, drive radio committee chairman, called on wives to "see to it that every business office in Boston makes the same sacrifices as did Boston homes to salvage waste paper.

"We urge the womenfolk to inspire their menfolk to meet this challenge and do their part," she said. "Good housekeeping may commence at home, but it is consummated finally in every business office.

"We call on all housewives to speak about this subject tonight at dinner tables. Together, we can make this vitally important business office clean-out a huge success and place Boston again as the first city in the country to do a thorough job and show the way for other large cities."

George C. Wiswell, chairman of the Advertising Club's salvage committee, asked business concerns to have paper on curbstones in front of their offices before 1 p. m., on collection day in their district. Collections this afternoon in District 1 were scheduled on both sides of the following streets: State st., Central st., Doane st., Atlantic ave. from State to Milk; Water st. from Batterymarch to Broad; and Broad st. from Milk to State st.

[illegible]est's Soviet Talk [illegible]nded as 'Phony'

By DAVID SENTNER

[illegible]NGTON, May 1—The "unauthorized" visit to Moscow [illegible]Stanislaus Orlemanski, of Springfield, Mass., was de- [illegible]day as "the phoniest propaganda" ever palmed off by Com- [illegible]ussia on the United [illegible]a communion breakfast [illegible]y the Right Rev. Mon- [illegible]ichael J. Ready, general [illegible]of the National Catholic [illegible]onference.

[illegible]eady told the regional [illegible]s of the National Catho- [illegible]unity Service that Fr. [illegible]was "the only priest [illegible]d States—and likely in [illegible]known as a partisan of [illegible]dicy."

[illegible]ed that Catholic leaders [illegible]ed vainly to get worthy [illegible]to Russia "and would like [illegible]ow hte exact part our gov- [illegible]nt had in the performance." [illegible]e Polish priest, on a mission to Russia purportedly aimed at furthering a pro-Soviet regime in Poland, was received by Stalin and given an accolade in the officially-controlled Soviet press.

Msgr. Ready termed the trip "a political burlesque."

"It is heartening to have the State Department spokesman say the White House had nothing to do with facilitating the passport arrangements," he said.

"The implications of arranging a passport are serious enough without having the White House accused of stabbing in the back the Poland whose government this nation recognizes."

Ward Seizure Case Argued

CHICAGO, May 1 (AP)—Federal Judge William H. Holly today heard arguments on the motion of Montgomery, Ward and Co. to dissolve the order restraining the company, and its officials from interfering with federal operation of the plant.

Judge Holly has indicated he will rule on the injunction question tomorrow. Atty.-Gen. Francis Biddle, U. S. Atty. J. Albert Woll and Francis M. Shea, head of the civil section department of the Attorney-General's office, conferred here yesterday on the hearing.

Both union and company officials agreed Saturday night in a hearing before Samuel H. Jaffee, National Labor Relations Board trial examiner, to a collective bargaining election to determine union representation. The hearing will continue tomorrow on whether the employes shall vote as a single unit or in several divisions.

John Barr, company counsel, and Francis Heisler, union attorney, stipulated that an election should be held on or before June 7, if the NLRB requires it.

The government took over operation of the plant last Wednesday after Sewell Avery, board chairman, refused to comply with the War Labor Board directive and President Roosevelt's request to extend the company's contract with the CIO United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes Union, until the representation question could be solved.

Troops were withdrawn from the plant Saturday when Wayne C. Taylor, undersecretary of Commerce and government manager of the plant, said the court order rendered their presence unnecessary.

Busch Heir's Trial Involves Cafe Set

NEW YORK, May 1—The case of the Federal government against Gert Hans von Gontard, 38, playboy heir to the Busch brewery millions, today took on all aspects of a society and beauty pageant.

It was revealed the government plans to parade as witnesses tomorrow six women members of Von Gontard's cafe society set, and three of them were described as "knockouts."

The youthful millionaire, former husband of German film star Lucis Toelle, is accused of evading the draft for three years by means of a fake medical history and phony affidavits stating he was engaged in vital war work.

On trial with him as accomplices are Lieut. Francis X. Grottano of Army intelligence, former local detective; Dr. Arnold A. Hutschnecker, refugee physician, and Michael Mangano, Brooklyn uniform manufacturer.

Another alleged accomplice, John E. Wilson, clerk in the draft board to which Von Gontard shifted from Beverly Hills, Cal., committed suicide last January, following questioning concerning the status of the millionaire.

According to Asst. U. S. Atty. J. Gerard Cregan, Lieut. Grattano and Wilson were the experts who advised Von Gontard as to just what steps to take to evade induction.

A tip to the government that Dr. Hutschnecker received $500 for faking the medical history brought the FBI into the case and resulted in Von Gontard's arrest last Dec. 23, just five days before he would have been over the draft age limit of 38 years.

Mississippi Havoc Grows

By Associated Press

Swollen to its highest levels in 100 years, the raging Mississippi river swept safely past St. Louis but continued spreading destruction today as one of its tributaries, the Illinois, continued tearing at earthen levees.

Forecasts of showers throughout the watersheds of the two streams led authorities to call for additional help to battle the rivers, bringing to over 10,000 the number fighting to hold the levees in Illinois and Missouri.

The U. S. Army district engineer's office at St. Louis reported that Dupo, where a large portion of the freight yards were underwater, and Preston, on the Mississippi, and Clear creek and McGee creek levees were in critical danger today.

Only 47,000 New Cars Left

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The nation's stockpile of new passenger automobiles has dwindled from about 532,000 at the start of rationing to 47,000.

The Office of Price Administration, reporting this today, said it means rationing "will have to get tighter and tighter until new car production is in sight."

"It is essential," OPA said, "that some new cars be made available as long as possible to take care of highly important services, such as police or medical services."

During May 10,000 new cars or about a fifth of the number remaining will be released. The quota for June and subsequent months is expected to be considerably smaller.

Maid's Death Laid to Attack

ROYALSTON, May 1—Police today awaited an autopsy report from Medical Examiner George J. Bassow in the death of Miss Ida M. Winsemius, 27-year-old Athol domestic, whose body was found in a farm pasture here. She had been missing since April 2 and had been the object of a statewide search.

Her fully-clothed body was discovered by Miss Eleanor Brown, 25, and her father, Athol Selectman Alfred H. Brown. The victim was lying face down and nearby were her coat and two purses containing about $3 in change.

Miss Winsemius disappeared after leaving a Royalston theater to return to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Pease, Jr., in West Royalston rd., in a lonely section of Athol. State police advanced a theory that she may have been attacked.

A native of Haverhill, the victim made her home in Erving with her half brother, Charles Little. She had been a factory worker before taking employment with the Pease family. Boy Scouts and volunteers had conducted searches of woods near here after she was reported missing.

Aussie General Angry, Retires

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1 (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Gordon Bennett criticised the Australian Army administration today and said he was retiring because he had been "relegated to administrative command."

Wearing his uniform with its three rows of campaign ribbons fo rthe last day before going into civilian life, the general who escaped when the Japs took Singapore said:

"I came back when Australia was in dire peril, solely with the object of giving warning about Jap methods. I wrote some textbooks which eventually were used and the principles applied in New Guinea."

Bennett said that after his escape he exposed weaknesses of the Brisbane Line theory in time to have plans altered so the Japs were fought in New Guinea instead of in the outskirts of Birsbane.

Army Officers Hit In Battery Sales

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Disciplinary action is being taken by the War Department against Army officers involved in the low price sale to civilians last year of thousands of "salvage" dry cell batteries at the Ogden, Utah, depot.

Rep. Cochran (D.) of Missouri, who said he was so informed today by Undersecretary of War Patterson, told the House recently some of the 100,000 batteries for which the Government originally paid $200,000, were sold to civilians for $125, and that part of these later were resold for $20,000.

The sales, Patterson said, were the "result of errors of judgment and administration," but no fraud or collusion by officers or employes of the War Department was indicated."

Bargain Tax Gains Support

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the Senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage an increase in population.

The new simplification measure, which has been promised swift congressional action, would cut tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 exemption on every member of the family. The current deduction for each child is $350. By the same token, the new measure would increase tax liabilities for childless couples.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Senator Maybank (D.) of South Carolina. "It never was enough."

Senators Ferguson (R.) of Michigan, and Downey (D.) of California, both expressed doubt there would be much inducement in the measure as it stands to increase the birth rate.

"The trouble is that the cost of children always has been more than the amount parents can save on tax exemptions," Ferguson said.

Downey, who has five children himself, agreed. But he said it would be fine if the higher exemptions did lead to bigger families, "because we Americans are a declining population."

Continue Masses For Cardinal

Memorial masses for Cardinal O'Connell were held today and are scheduled almost daily throughout the week in the 325 parishes of the archdiocese.

Prayers for the repose of his soul were offered at the churches yesterday. Hundreds visited the crypt where the Cardinal is buried on the grounds of St. John's Seminary in Brighton.

The Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D.D., auxiliary bishop and interim administrator of the archdiocese, told parishoners at Sacred Heart Church, Newton, that "it is hard to picture the diocese without his dominating presence."

Dr. Alexander Brin of the Massachusetts Advisory Board of Education, speaking at Lawrence, said Cardinal O'Connell's life and achievements were "an American epic, indigenous only to American soil, and a living proof that democracy still abides with us."

President Praises War Advertising

NEW YORK, May 1 (INS)—President Roosevelt declared that advertising has played an "excentionally forceful" role in the home front fight against inflation.

In a letter released by the War Advertising Council, the Chief Executive recalled that in the year since he signed the "hold the line" order, the cost of living index has declined.

Navy Pays Tribute At Burial of Knox

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, will be laid to rest on the rolling slopes of Arlington National Cemetery today while U. S. Navy men around the world hold memorial services for "the boss."

Only exceptions will be on the ships that at 1400—Navy term for 2 p. m., Eastern War Time—are in actual battle with the enemy or carrying out emergency missions.

In the British and Canadian fleets, as well, all flags fly at half-mast on orders from the admiralty in mourning for the man who sparked the program that gave the United States the mightiest Navy in world history.

Replete with pageantry and traditional rites, the service for Knox, who died Friday from recurrent heart attacks, begins in a little church where he worshipped since becoming Secretary of the Navy in July, 1940.

There, an old friend and neighbor, who lived near the Knox home in Manchester, N. H., where the late secretary once published a newspaper, will conduct the religious rites. He is Dr. Fred S. Buschmeyer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church.

A guard of honor will be waiting at the church when the funeral party arrives—cabinet officers, admirals, generals, enlisted men and women all have been alloted seats in the little church.

Body bearers—the military term for active pall bearers—will represent the three branches of the Naval service, four each from the enlisted ranks of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines.

Navy Yard Service Pays Knox Tribute

With a noon memorial service at the Navy Yard, Boston today paid tribute to its native son, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, while in Manchester, N. H., where he began his newspaper career, municipal activities were suspended during hours of his funeral at Washington, D. C.

The Boston Navy Yard service included a eulogy by Rear Admiral Robert A. Theobald, commandant of the First Naval District; an invocation by Comdr. F. L. McFadden, Chaplain Corps, USN; benediction by Capt. Roy L. Lewis, Chaplain Corps, U. S. N., and music by the Navy Yard band.

At Manchester, memorial services were held at 2 p. m. in the First Congregational Church, where Secretary Knox was stricken ill last week while attending the funeral of John A. Muehling, retired publisher of the Union and Leader, and Knox' business associate for more than 40 years.

It was understood that Stettinius laid out the blueprint before his two American colleagues—W. Averell Harrman, ambassador to Russia, and Robert D. Murphy, ambassador to the Allied military command in the Mediterranean.

Stettinius' stop in Morocco was primarily for the purpore of giv-in a "fill-in" to Harriman so he could inform Premier Stalin.

State Guards, 26th Staff Cited

Three Massachusetts State Guard companies and the regimental staff of the 26th Infantry today held a unit citation from the National Guard bureau for "a high degree of efficiency in training," awarded as a result of a recent federal inspection.

Reading of the citation by Capt. John C. Long, adjutant to Col. Vincent C. Breen, regimental commander, at evening retreat, featured mobilization of 1000 officers and men and units of the Women's Defense Corps in field maneuvers in the Blue Hills reservation.

The companies named in the citation were the 5th and 6th of the South Armory, Irvington st., and the 22d of Dover. The citations were accompanied by indorsements from Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, commanding the First Service Command; Brig. Gen. William J. Keville, adjutant general, and Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Foley, commanding the state division.

Reading of the citation followed a formal review of troops by Brig. Gen. Albert C. Gray. Five battalions of the 26th Infantry participated in activities which included open air mass, bivouac problems, an encampment, scouting and patrolling exercises.

Liquor Thief Hunted

Police are today seeking thieves who crashed a brick through the window of the Deluxe cafe in Washington st., near Massachusetts ave., South End, and looted the establishment of eight bottles of assorted liquors and took $25 from the till.

Steiger Shooting Death Probed

SPRINGFIELD, May 1—Although listed by Medical Examiner William A. R. Chapin as "presumably a suicide," death of Robert R. Steiger, 47, manager of the Hall Galleries, was under police investigation today.

His body, a bullet wound in the head, was found by a maid in the palatial Ridgewood ter. home of his brother, Ralph A. Steiger. A .30 caliber Winchester rifle was nearby. Steiger, a 1919 Yale graduate, served in France with the field artillery in World War I.

Steiger, formerly in charge of the Hartford branch of the Steiger department stores, was brother of Albert E. Steiger who died last June two days after he told Boston police he had received severe injuries during an altercation with a taxicab driver who was never apprehended.

Parties to Pick Delegates in May

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—In the greatest burst of political activity the presidential campaign has seen thus far, Democrats will name delegates representing 476 national convention votes and Republicans will select 351 this month in 26 States.

Beginning with the Florida and Alabama Democratic primaries tomorrow, when slates to cast 18 and 24 votes, respectively, will be chosen, the two major parties will hold almost daily conventions and primaries. By June 1, the Republicans will have selected 1006 of their 1059 Chicago delegates and the Democrats will have chosen 906 of their 1176.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who says he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination, and President Roosevelt, who has said nothing at all about the Democratic nomination, probably will continue their harvest of pledged and claimed delegates.

The Republican field was narrowed over the week-end by Gen. MacArthur's unequivocal statement that he would not accept the nomination. The movement to draft him thus knocked in the head, it was announced from Chicago headquarters that MacArthur-for-President clubs would be disbanded.

One of Dewey's chief challengers, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, may make his first appearance in the tabulation of delegates May 9, when he is expected to collect Ohio's 50 Republican delegates.

Meat Plants' Output Declines in April

CHICAGO, May 1 (INS)—Twelve per cent less beef, veal, lamb and pork was produced in federally inspected meat packing plants in April than in the month previous, the American Meat Institute reported.

Total production was one billion four hundred seventy million pounds. In comparison with production in April of 1943, the total was 22 per cent greater.

Daughter of Postal Chief Is Engaged

WASHINGTON, May 1 (INS)—Postmaster-General Frank Walker and Mrs. Walker announced the engagement of their daughter, Laura Hallie, to Capt. Robert Louis Ameno, Army Tank Corps.

Capt. Ameno is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Louis Ameno, of Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Their price tags say $32.00. Same as last Spring. Same as 1942. What's more, their superior Rochester needlework hasn't changed one iota. It's still the smooth-fitting product of the same experts who have been making these suits for years. And the woolens? You're getting 100% pure worsteds of intrinsic value equal to any we've ever shown. That's laying it on the line—in a way we think you'll appreciate. Air Travel Reveals Efficiency of Army

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JR.
Publisher, New York Journal-American

This is the sixth of a series of articles by William Randolph Hearst, Jr., now in Naples.)

NAPLES, Italy, May 1—Howard Hughes flew around the world in less than four days. Several years before, Dorothea Kilgallen, daughter of veteran newspaperman Jimmie, head of our International News Service staff here, raced around the world in 18 days.

Jules Verne, long ago, had a character whip around the world in 80 days.

At the rate I've been going, all of these records are perfectly safe.

I left New York March 23rd and pulled in here April 23rd, not exactly a record breaking journey.

As I get it, the chief reason for taking so long is that the Army has now gotten travel in this neck of the woods thoroughly "organized."

Until just recently, if you wanted to go from, say, Algiers to Naples, you went out to the airfield, saw the officer in charge of the air transport command who promptly put you on the next plane going your way.

Now you have to get written orders which take several days.

These orders then go through to the Priority Board, which takes another several days, and finally somebody calls you and says to be at the field at a certain early hour next morning.

Once in the hands of the air transport command, things run smoothly and efficiently, just like an airline at home.

LEAVE ON EXPRESS

Anyway, last Friday evening, they gave my roommate, Russell Hill, and me our tickets calling for a takeoff from Algiers on the express plane bound for Naples—a five-hour non-stop flight.

Saturday morning broke rainy and overcast, but we got out to the field and took off under low rain clouds.

Being of the opinion that we were bound directly for Naples, I was rather surprised to learn that several of our passengers were getting off at Bizerte, a quite impossible feat unless we stopped there.

However, they proved more nearly right than I.

We landed at Tunis, having vainly tried to get into Bizerte but being foiled by heavy weather. That interrupted the trip.

The field at Catania showed plainly the ravages of war. All the hangars were nothing but steel skeletons and everywhere you looked you saw wrecked airplanes—German, English, American.

From Catania we flew around the foot of Italy, crossing above the heel and proceeding on up the east coast to Bari.

This is an Allied port on the Adriatic and it was here that the Germans pulled their surprise raid several months ago, doing considerable damage.

It is only about an hour's flight from Bari to Naples, but what a scenic trip it was.

FLY OVER HILLS

The ground around Bari is flat and highly cultivated. It is here that all our airfields are, the possession of which constitute one of our main military successes in Italy.

Soon, though, we were flying over the hills, a few minutes later between mountains rising precipitously on either side.

Most of the high hills had little towns perched on their summits and it was a strange feeling to be flying within a hundred feet of towns on the same level as ourselves.

It was rough going through the mountainous district and got rougher as the mountains rose higher and steeper around us.

Suddenly we burst through the pass like a train coming out of a tunnel.

Up ahead at the foot of the mountains, as now they dropped away from us, lay Naples, and to our left rose the mighty volcano, Vesuvius—in full eruption with yellow sulphurous smoke pouring out from one of its cones and with the hot lava drifting down its side destroying everything in its path.

It seemed as if we were witnessing a contest between Vulcan and Mars to see which could destroy most completely the laboriously constructed works of man.

Puerto Rican Flays Tugwell, Hints Revolt

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Puerto Ricans are "almost on the verge of revolution," Bolivar Pagan, the island's resident commissioner in Congress, declared today in demanding the resignation of Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell.

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people would have already gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan said in a statement and interview.

Gov. Tugwell

"What the people want right now is the re-establishment and enforcement of the present organic act and the immediate removal of Gov. Tugwell, to re-establish in Puerto Rico a government of law and honesty and a real government by the majority of the people."

Pagan declared "Tugwell's dictatorial attitude can be matched only by Hitler's and Mussolini's tactics."

The governor, he said, travels with an armed guard, and lives a life of luxury in a 300-year-old Spanish castle "more comfortable than the White House, with 30 servants, eight automobiles, and two summer homes."

Shortly before Tugwell moved in, Pagan said, the United States spent $500,000 in remodeling the $1,500,000 castle.

"We have a most scandalous situation in Puerto Rico," he said. "Puerto Rico is over-excited, almost on the verge of revolution. Sensible persons wonder how the United States can hold the banner as champion of democracy throughout the world while two million American citizens in that American territory continue under a most incapable, corrupt and undemocratic government."

6 Die at Crossing

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Six persons—four women and two men—were killed as their car was struck by an eastbound New York Central passenger train.

Germans Start Typhus Plague

MOSCOW, May 1 (INS)—The Germans are attempting to cause typhus epidemics in the path of the Red army advance, according to a report by an extraordinary state commission for investigating German crimes.

The report, taking up more than four columns and accompanied by photographers of the victim, appears in all Soviet papers.

It said:

"The Germans herded large numbers of children and women and old men unfit for work into concentration camps which were actually just stretches of land enclosed by barbed wire, choosing for this purpose areas near the front which they had no hope of retaining.

"Into these camps they brought lorry-loads of typhus victims rounded up from the countryside with the deliberate intention of spreading typhus on a large scale."

Puerto Rican Flays Tugwell, Hints Revolt

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Puerto Ricans are "almost on the verge of revolution," Bolivar Pagan, the island's resident commissioner in Congress, declared today in demanding the resignation of Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell.

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people would have already gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan said in a statement and interview.

Gov. Tugwell

"What the people want right now is the re-establishment and enforcement of the present organic act and the immediate removal of Gov. Tugwell, to re-establish in Puerto Rico a government of law and honesty and a real government by the majority of the people."

Pagan declared "Tugwell's dictatorial attitude can be matched only by Hitler's and Mussolini's tactics."

The governor, he said, travels with an armed guard, and lives a life of luxury in a 300-year-old Spanish castle "more comfortable than the White House, with 30 servants, eight automobiles, and two summer homes."

Shortly before Tugwell moved in, Pagan said, the United States spent $500,000 in remodeling the $1,500,000 castle.

"We have a most scandalous situation in Puerto Rico," he said. "Puerto Rico is over-excited, almost on the verge of revolution. Sensible persons wonder how the United States can hold the banner as champion of democracy throughout the world while two million American citizens in that American territory continue under a most incapable, corrupt and undemocratic government."

Germans Start Typhus Plague

MOSCOW, May 1 (INS)—The Germans are attempting to cause typhus epidemics in the path of the Red army advance, according to a report by an extraordinary state commission for investigating German crimes.

The report, taking up more than four columns and accompanied by photographers of the victim, appears in all Soviet papers.

It said:

"The Germans herded large numbers of children and women and old men unfit for work into concentration camps which were actually just stretches of land enclosed by barbed wire, choosing for this purpose areas near the front which they had no hope of retaining.

"Into these camps they brought lorry-loads of typhus victims rounded up from the countryside with the deliberate intention of spreading typhus on a large scale."

Tierney Takes High K. C. Post

Paul E. Tierney, of Somerville, as navigator today headed a new slate of officers of Bishop Cheverus Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, nominated at a communion breakfast at the Copley Plaza Hotel following a memorial mass at St. Clement's Church.

The mass was one of numerous church services attended by K. of C. members, Catholic Daughters of America and Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters at which "eve of invasion" prayers for the safe return of servicemen were offered.

More than 300 members and guests attended the Bishop Cheverus Assembly breakfast. Elected with Navigator Tierney were John Healy of Westwood, captain; Thomas J. McInerney of Brighton, admiral; James A. Hubin of Brookline, pilot, and William J. O'Brien, of Dorchester, purser.

Army Retires Hero Flier, 16

A U. S. LIBERATOR BASE IN BRITAIN, May 1 (AP)—Sergt. Desales A. Glover of Pittsburgh, a Liberator gunner who recently was awarded the Air Medal, is being retired from the U. S. Army Air Force at the ripe age of 16, it was learned today.

He was grounded recently after completing six missions, including one trip to Berlin, when it was discovered he was under age. Administration officials said he probably would be sent home and honorably discharged. By fibing about his age, Glover enlisted in the Army Oct. 14, 1942, when he was only 14.

'Secret Weapon' Balked

LONDON, May 1 (AP)—The Germans' much-touted "secret weapon" on the French coast evidently has been disrupted by intensive Allied bombing—or else is so hot the Germans are holding it for the actual moment of invasion. It seems more likely that bombs have kept them from using it.

Several months ago the Germans started spreading rumors they had some device which virtually was unbeatable because it could strike England from France, whereas the Allies, even if they had something similar, could get no such close vantage point to attack Germany.

On Feb. 22 Prime Minister Churchill stated there were installations on the French coast for rockets or robot planes "or both on a considerable scale."

The installations in the Pas-de-Calais area had been noted by Allied reconnaissance months before and the first bombings were carried out in September. The day before Christmas an intensive series of almost daily attacks on the French area closest to England started. It has been bombed 80 times—25 times by American Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Few details of the German installations are known. Smatterings from fliers, who also are in the dark, have indicated there are many installations. There there is "something there" has been indicated in the big columns of smoke that often come as bombs hit.

Garden Plants Set Out Now Must Be of Hardy Variety

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.

Victory gardeners who plan to set out their early plants this week should remember that they can make a serious mistake by using plants which have not been exposed to outdoor weather for a week or 10 days. It is vitally important that they be well hardened.

Plants bought from reliable plantsmen will probably be hardened, but those grown by individuals in homes are usually tender. The term "hardening plants" means getting them tough enough to stand outside conditions.

REDUCE WATER

If you have your own plants, the following method will act as a guide:

1—Reduce amount of water that you give them and then gradually lower the temperature.

2—If the plants are grown in the house it will help to harden them by placing the boxes out in the open.

Hardy crops such as lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli will toughen up so that they can resist some frost. Tomatoes, peppers and eggplant are frost tender and should not be set out until all danger of frost is over. Do not harden tomato plants for too long a period.

SAVE SOIL WATER. At present there is plenty of water in the soil, and under these conditions we do not worry about moisture. Before the summer is over, however, all gardeners will experience dry weather and have crops suffer from lack of water.

FOR FUTURE USE

The reason I mention this now is that we can do considerable to conserve this excess moisture that we get in the spring for future use and prevent reduction of yields and poor quality of crops later.

The following practices carried out now will make considerable difference in crop growth later:

1—Add organic material such as compost matter or animal manures. 2—Break up lumps while preparing soil to prevent drying out. 3—Keep surface soil mellow to absorb rain. 4—Use mulches wherever possible. 5—Do not run rows up and down a slope. By running across the slope you will catch more of the rain water and prevent surface run-off.

Keep these points in mind while you are working your garden and it will pay dividends later in better crop returns.

It's Spring Again—While strolling through the park Sunday—Central Park, N. Y. C.—this little gal was taken by surprise when the urge to go places lured her pet pooch from the ways of right and toward the pond that seemed to cry "into these waters of spring the winter garment of repentance fling." She got frightened and leaped to the rescue, grabbing his tail and doing a heroic deed that her dog didn't appreciate. So, all up and down the eastern coast, spring was welcomed by the winter-weary denizens of despair.

We're ALL Capitalists In America

"I AM A CAPITALIST. Because we live in capitalist society, all Americans are capitalists, precisely as all Germans and all Russians are collectivists in that they live in a collectivist society," says Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in the May Cosmopolitan.

In this unusual and brilliant essay, entitled "AMERICA UNLIMITED," Mr. Johnston presents to the American people one of the clearest definitions of our unique American way that have been presented in these criss-cross times.

Mr. Johnston is, it is refreshing to relate, everywhere constructive, optimistic and courageous.

He does not carp.

He points the way ahead.

He believes profoundly and enthusiastically, even defiantly, in the old America, the present-day America and in a brilliant postwar America.

Concerning the latter, in a crystal-clear word-picture of the dual responsibilities of government and business the young president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce outlines a postwar program as follows:

Remove the penalties now imposed on profitable business.

Loosen wartime controls.

Systematically release depression-made restrictions.

Intelligently liquidate our swollen government-in-business.

Utilize existing mechanisms of social control to cushion the transition from a war to a peace economy.

Sponsor non-competitive but useful public works and a graduated system of financial aid to demobilized soldiers and demobilized war workers.

Plan for the rehabilitation of war-shattered veterans to resume productive employment.

Sharply revise price controls to prevent inflation.

THAT IS NOT the program of a star-gazing theorist or a political mountebank, of which we have too many today.

It is the plan of a business man who conceives the government of the United States in terms of BUSINESS.

It is the program of a man who has done big things himself and who is therefore imbued with the American spirit of "know-how" learned at first-hand.

He restates the fundamentalist American credo in these words:

"I believe—I may say we believe—that the individual man and woman is the pivotal element in a desirable society.

The individual's safety, freedom, happiness come first and last.

The state in any of its forms for us has no authority per se as an end in itself, but only as the tool and servant of the individual."

That concept should govern our postwar statesmen. On it depends everything else.

And Mr. Johnston faces the problem of social security courageously and with vast common-sense in these words:

"There is, it seems to me, all the difference in the world between recognizing social security as an accessory element and raising it to the status of a supreme goal for the American people.

"It's the difference between stocking your medicine chest with reliable remedies for an emergency and dosing yourself habitually with nostrums."

That is, indeed, the difference in a nutshell between Democratic social security and Socialistic social security.

Social security as an "accessory element" helps—and helps mightily.

But social security as a goal and an ideology degrades.

THERE IS no social security for a people equal to a system of unrestricted opportunity.

And unrestricted opportunity for all is the core of Mr. Johnston's article.

"Heads Up!" cries Mr. Johnston to the American people—to all civilians and to all our returning veterans.

An inspiring man.

An inspiring essay.

A picture of an inspiring America TO COME.

Shorter Days for Mothers

FOUR-HOUR shifts for working mothers of small children, with two women doing the job of one full-time employe, have been recommended by Dr. Abigail A. Eliot, director of the Nursery Training School of Boston.

The suggestion is a step forward in the right direction.

Its aim and purpose is to give mothers who must work more time to spend with their dependent children.

Better would be an arrangement that would enable mothers to devote ALL THEIR TIME to their homes and families.

Motherhood is a full-time job, as every woman who has reared sons and daughters knows.

One of the great mistakes of the past two years was the short-sighted campaign to take mothers away from their children and to place them in factories.

WASHINGTON, May 1—The other day Bill Corum, distinguished sports columnist of the New York Journal-American, wrote a very nice piece about me in which he said that one of the reasons he liked me was that I didn't seem to be mad at anybody.

I do not wish to destroy Mr. Corum's faith and trust, but I am mad right now. I am mad because I am scared.

I am frightened silly over this government seizure of Montgomery Ward out in Chicago—and if anybody thinks I am kidding or trying to be funny, will they please come into this office and collect a thump on the nose.

And any American who isn't frightened had better go out and contract some fear right away.

Nothing that has happened on the domestic front since the war began has gotten the wind up my back like this armed seizure of a plant that was not engaged in war business. Now and again, when bureaucracy hereabouts seemed to be getting pretty close to dictatorship, I felt chills, but nothing like the shakes that have gotten me now.

The thing fits too closely a pattern employed in other countries which eventually lost all their freedom.

I am not going to crowd the point—because you either see it or you don't—but when a government, supposedly dedicated to democracy and free enterprise, pulls a job like the Montgomery Ward business, it is time to wipe that happy, idiotic smile off the kisser!

MISS MARION REID, my calm and imperturable associate, has just applied cold towels and I have subsided somewhat. I am also sorry at disappointing Mr. Corum, whose opinion I value.

I think, however, that Mr. Corum has been led somewhat astray by my cupidish appearance. Of course, I do not go around naked shooting arrows at people—after all, it has been a very cold spring here in Washington—but many people profess to see a general seraphic resemblance.

Mr. Corum said that my writings were slightly on the "feathery side," implying that they were not too profound. But once again he has been misled by my expression. What he does not seem to realize is, that even if I appear to be only ogling a dame seated a couple of tables away, I am really thinking like anything.

AFTER APPLYING the cold towels, Miss Reid got out a frozen codfish, which she keeps for the purpose, and began banging me over the head with it. As a result, my mind is now functioning in its usual way again.

I got thinking what would happen if F. D. R. ordered the government to take over the newspaper columns. Suppose he decided to take over mine? I will thank you kindly not to say "Swell!" because I do not wish to get into a side argument.

Mr. Roosevelt got Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones to take over Montgomery Ward, but I am almost certain Mr. Jones would rebel at also taking over my column. The disquieting thought then intrudes: Who would get it?

It might, of course, be Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who is in charge of almost everything else of a non-combatant nature, including the grazing service. But it would certainly be a nice reflection on journalism to see Secretary Ickes busy browsing and grazing at the same time he was knocking out a column.

I would hate to see the task assigned to Archibald MacLeish, the noted free-verse poet. Furthermore, it would be a waste of time as I am perfectly capable of making up my own gibberish.

The only thing that would reconcile me to Mr. MacLeish taking a hand is if the President orders the taking over of the comic strips. But here again, I fear there would be conflict. I have just had a visit with George McManus, cartoonist of Jiggs and Maggie, and I do not think Mr. McManus would get along at all well with Mr. MacLeish.

In fact, I will bet that Mr. McManus, who is sort of hidebound, if not reactionary, would not think that Mr. MacLeish is funny enough to handle Jiggs. I thoroughly disagree with him—but then I have probably read more of Mr. MacLeish's offerings.

On the Side . . . By E. V. Durling

A man by nothing
Is so well betrayed
As by his manners.
—EDMUND SPENSER.

JUVENAL ASKED: "Do you expect a mother to teach her children manners which differ from her own?" A remark worth careful consideration. Bad-mannered children usually have bad-mannered mothers . . . A Chicago jurist recently viewed the twin bed situation with much alarm. He named the use of twin beds as one of the major causes for divorce in the United States. This old boy should have familiarized himself with the most recent matrimonial statistics before he popped off. Investigation has revealed that only 13 per cent of married people in the United States have twin beds.

COINCIDENCE: Strange how people, when in an accident, are always injured in the same place. My wife has been injured three times in succession in her back. I have had only three accidents that required the surgical treatment of stitching and all have been in the same place. As a boy, I was hit in the upper lip with a thrown stone. Playing football I was kicked in the same place. And a few years ago when in an automobile accident I escaped all injury except a cut upper lip from flying glass.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—What do you think of Saggitarius women? A—I think they're wonderful. I married one. But perhaps you mean you want to know what the star-gazers think. We shall review the opinions of the latter on Saggitarians in an early issue. Q—Don't you know Stephen Foster's famous song was first titled "Way Down Upon the Wabash River," but he changed it to Swanee River because it sounded better? Foster never even saw the Swanee River. A—What you say is news to me. But what difference would it make in writing the song if Foster had never seen the Swanee River? Some of the best songs about rivers in the South were written by New Yorkers who had never been farther south than Atlantic City. L. Wolfe Gilbert never saw the Mississippi until 20 years after he had written "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee."

PLEASE NOTE: "Chicago is the Indian name for wild onion," states a contemporary. That's not the way I heard it. I don't say it isn't true, though. Recently, I heard an argument about this between a fellow from Detroit and one from Chicago. The Chicagoan said the name of his city in the Indian language meant "where waters meet." The Detroiter said Chicago meant "skunk" in the Indian language.

MARRIAGE: A feminine subscriber of 42, who states she is in love with a man of 24, asks if I know of a successful marriage in which the wife is 18 years older than the husband. I do not. Seems to me this subscriber is taking the claim that life begins at 40 too seriously. Many marriages in which the wife is eight or even ten years older have succeeded, but stretching this difference to 18 seems excessive.

SIDELIGHTS: Not a trainer of thoroughbreds has been "suspended" for doping a horse. Doping a horse is a criminal offense. About five years ago a man was jailed in Illinois for using dope on a thoroughbred. Similar handling of similar offenses might aid in stamping out the practice of stimulating racehorses, which practice, according to some sports scribes, is on the increase . . . "I guess I am the country's greatest Deanna Durbin fan," writes James Oswald of Chicago. "I have seen all of Deanna's 13 features; most of them three times. I saw one 14 times." (Note—Mr. Oswald doesn't say what Durbin feature he saw 14 times.)

ASIDES: Writes a member of the armed forces in the Pacific: "In the newspapers we get from home all we read about is what wonderful things the Marines, Seabees and Air Force are doing. Don't forget the U. S. Infantry is down here in the South Pacific and in there pitching. Give us a little credit, too." . . . Mrs. Frances Towich, a Chicagoan, at the age of 47 gave birth to her 13th child. Am also informed when one of her other children was born Mrs. Towich got up three hours after the blessed event, did all her house-cleaning, and cooked the family dinner. Clever people, those Chicagoans.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 1—Three hundred fifty thousand dollars was the price asked by the Theater Guild for "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," and that is the price Columbia paid.

I had heard the deal narrowed down to Warners and Columbia, but Warners, according to Jack Warner, finally was no longer in the field.

Franz Werfel, the author, had favored William Perlberg because of the way his "Song of Bernadette" was handled. Harry Cohn said that with the purchase of "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" Columbia now owns "Kiss and Tell," "Over Twenty-One" and several other Broadway hits.

CHARLES BOYER is in a very receptive mood and greatly interested in a conversation he had with Preston Sturges. The discussion was over the first Sturges picture for Howard Hughes, "The Sin of Hilda Diddlebock." When I screamed over the title, the inimitable Sturges said it is about a film within a film. Well, all I can say is any guy who can make "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" as funny as it is should do very well by "Miss Diddlebock" and Mr. Boyer. The Sturges contract with Hughes hasn't been signed, but then Howard never does anything in a hurry and I don't think even Preston can rush him.

* * *

I HAVE a strong hunch when Jack Warner returns from New York he'll have the film rights to Lillian Hellman's new hit play, "The Searching Wind," all bought and paid for. Miss Hellman is always influenced by Herman Shumlin, who directs all her stage plays, and he is still under contract to Warners. If the deal is made, and I have it on excellent authority that negotiations have started, it will be brought to the screen late next year, or after it leaves Broadway.

* * *

I'M GLAD Marie Wilson is continuing in movies. As the Dumb Dora-Gentlemen-Prefer-Blondes type on the screen, she is in a class by herself. Marie is definitely set by Joe Pasternak for "Music for Millions" alias "Dear Barbara." Henry Koster was so eager to get her he had a dumb clarinet-playing character written especially for her. Another girl staging a comeback in the same picture is Helen Gilbert, who has been missing from the MGM lot for more than three years. She is a fine musician and will play a cello in the lineup with Joe Iturbi, Margaret O'Brien and Marsha Hunt.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Only a good guy like Jack Carson would tell this one on himself. The other day Jack received a fan letter. It was like any other fan letter, only more so. It went along the general lines that Carson was the writer's favorite movie star and that he went to all of his pictures—sometimes seeing them two or three times. It wound up with all good wishes for Jack's continued success, and then came the payoff. The P. S. was: "Excuse me for writing with a crayon. They won't let me have anything sharp!"

BINNIE BARNES is the first top star Felix Young has signed for his "8:40 Revue." For a while Binnie was toying with an offer she had from Billy Rose for a featured spot in "Money, Money, Money." But she liked Felix's deal better, not only because the part is better, but Binnie wants to remain on the Coast where she can still accept movie jobs and, what is even more important to her, be with her two adopted children. She's a wonderful mother and her marriage to Captain Mike Frankovich is one of Hollywood's happiest.

* * *

IF YOU LIKE your singing highbrow you'll get Kathryn Grayson doing the honors in "Brighton Beach." If swing is for you, there'll be June Allyson doing the blues in the same picture. Never let it be said that Joe Pasternak, who will produce, and Henry Koster, the director, aren't aiming to please by teaming these two songbirds in this story which presents Kathryn as a "Met" star and June as a lady crooner. There are raves about June in "Two Girls and a Sailor"—she's that good. As for Kathryn, I swore I'd write a story about her without mentioning her off-again on-again divorce plans from John Shelton—and this is almost it!

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ralph Murphy wires from San Francisco he was married last week to Marian Curtis; Muriel Morris, who almost became Mrs. Red Skelton, is now passing her evenings with an attorney; Joan Davis promises to tell all in her new book, "The Life and Loves of Joan Davis," which is coming out; Pat Di Cicco says the Louis Di Cicco, who has telephoned us and so many other people in Hollywood, is not his cousin and he has never met him; Andy Devine, on a diet, gained 25 pounds. Poor Andy was so discouraged he hied to the Brown Derby and had his first square meal in weeks; Larry Weingarten is home from the hospital after an emergency appendectomy; Bob Haymes, Dick's brother, has gone into the Army and won't be here when his baby is born in August; Porter Hall, who is so funny in "Standing Room Only," goes into another top comedy spot in "Murder, He Says"; Anita Louise lost her wedding ring and found it in the vacuum cleaner; Maidy Christians has been signed for the "Mama's Bank Account" musical in New York. John Van Druten is writing the play for Rodgers and Hammerstein. This is the story that was to have starred Katina Paxinou at RKO before it was sold.

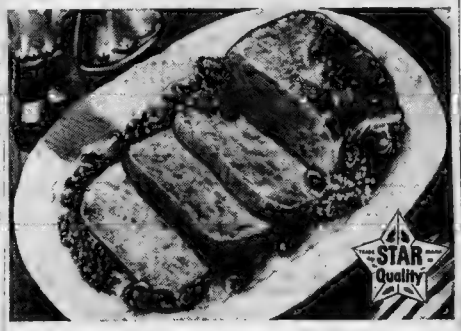
Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat



Baked Treet with Raisin Sauce—Low Point Dinner

For a quick and easy—and a most flavorful dinner-meat-dish—follow the recipe given here. It's Treet—heated in the loaf and served with a delicious raisin sauce.

Treet is Armour's meal-in-a-minute meat—ready to eat, just as it comes to you. It's a blend of fine ham and choice pork shoulder . . . seasoned delicately and vacuum cooked in the tin, right in its own natural meat juices. No wonder Treet tastes so good!

Open 1 tin of Armour's Treet, and place the whole loaf in a baking pan. Cover with ½ cup brown sugar and bake in 350° F. oven for 30 minutes. Cook ½ cup seedless raisins in 1½ cups boiling water, until soft. Combine 1 tbsp. cornstarch, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup orange juice and 1 tbsp. lemon juice and add to raisins. Cook over low fire until clear. Pour sauce over Treet and serve. Makes 4 generous servings.

Always keep extra tin or two of Treet on hand—it's a wonderful meat for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Grand served hot or cold.

It may be a danger sign
WHEN YOU CAN'T GET YOUR CHILD TO EAT!

Does your youngster just "pick" at his food? Does he push it away before it's half eaten? Then be on your guard, Mother! Loss of appetite, when accompanied by paleness, weakness and lack of pep, is often a sign that the blood is low in iron! In such cases, a good iron tonic like Pepto-Mangan can be very helpful. Pepto-Mangan replenishes whatever iron the blood may be lacking—helps to give it that rich redness so essential for strength and pep, hearty appetite and rosy cheeks. Many doctors recommend Pepto-Mangan for rundown and growing children whose blood is deficient in iron. Ask for—

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by IZZY ORT

IT looks like enny day now for da big invasion. Good luck fellas, and hurry back. I guarantee ya dat on da first nite back everything is on ME. Not on the house, but on ME personally. That's a pretty weak way of sayin' how much I'd like to see you all back safe and sound, but it's da only way I kno, so I'll be waitin' in me Grille and El Tropico room wid open arms. A coupla autos ran smack into each uther da uther day, and one of da drivers really did look more than a little bit under da influence of kola-kola or some sech drink, so da police officer rushed him down to da station. When he got the feller inside and started to book da charges da feller became sort of indignant. He sez he ain't no drunk and where duz he get da big idee? Da officer sez then why yer eyes so glassy, if you ain't plastered, and da fella ups and picks out a glass eye and lays it in da officer's hand! Honest injun! . . . Fer fun and laughs and a chance to relax, visit me El Tropico Room where we've always got da finest in floor shows and two dance bands what gives yuh continuous entertainment and dancing from 12 noon until closing. Ort's Grille and El Tropico Room. 25 Essex St. Advt.

Prayer Crusade on Invasion Day Planned

As part of a nationwide program, Boston Protestant churches will open their doors for special services and prayers on the day the invasion of Europe begins.

Announcing adoption of the plan suggested by the Federal Council of Churches, ministers of various Protestant denominations here urged their congregations to gather at churches to offer mass prayers for success in battle and for the safety of servicemen.

All churches are acting independently.

Teacher Wives Council Topic

The much-debated married teacher issue in Boston schools was scheduled for further discussion today with resolutions urging retention for the duration of women teachers who marry servicemen slated for consideration by the Boston City Council.

Pfc. Le Lorch of Will Rogers Field, Okla., who married the former Grace Lonergan, teacher at the Charles H. Taylor School, Dorchester, last Christmas, was author of the resolutions. Pointing out that his wife was demoted as a result of marriage, Lorch wrote:

"The morale and efficiency of servicemen is increased greatly when we have no worries about our love ones, when we know that they are safe now and will always be secure, no matter what may befall us."

Police Hunt Gunman In $16 Cab Holdup

Boston and Lynn police joined today in a search for a gunman who held up a Boston taxicab driver near the Lynn-Saugus line and escaped with $16.

The driver, Harry A. Lesser of Rossiter st., Dorchester, told Lynn police the gunman, whom he had picked up as a fare in Haymarket sq., jumped out of the cab near Shepard st., after the holdup, and fled.

Cars Kill 5 in Week; Toll in Year Is 161

Five persons were killed by autos in Massachusetts last week, nine less than the previous week and one less than during the corresponding week in 1943, according to figures released by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin.

Total deaths, however, show an increase, with 161 persons having been killed in 1944, as compared to 106 over the same period last year.

"The Gondoliers" will be repeated tomorrow evening. "The Mikado" will be given Wednesday matinee and night and Thursday and Saturday night; "Iolanthe," Friday night and Saturday matinee, and "Ruddigore," Sunday matinee and evening.

PLYMOUTH—"LOVERS AND FRIENDS," in which actress-manager Katharine Cornell has been starring on Broadway all this season, is in its second and final week here. Supporting cast of the Dodie Smith comedy is headed by Henry Daniell, Arthur Margetson, Carol Goodner, Anne Burr and Mable Taylor. Guthrie McClintic staged production.

SHUBERT — "DREAM WITH MUSIC," Richard Kollmar's beautiful new musical starring Vera Zorina, Ronald Graham and June Knight, is now in its third week here. Book by Broadway columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, Sidney Sheldon and Ben Roberts; music by Clay Warnick; lyrics by Edward Eagan. Miles White designed the costumes; Stewart Chaney, the settings.

PLYMOUTH — "SAME TIME NEXT WEEK," the Milton Berle-Andrew Billings production featuring the famous Hartmans, Paul and Grace, begins a two-week pre-Broadway engagement here. Searle Kramer's play is concerned with a radio team. Supporting players include Arnold Stang, Robert H. Harris, Gerry Carr, William Jeffrey, Joe Verdi, Louise Lorimer, Catherine Cameron, Tom McElhaney, Frank Rowan and others. Franklin Heller staged play; Frederick Fox designed sets.

COLONIAL—"3 IS A FAMILY," the Ephron-Epstein "Wife Takes a Child" domestic comedy which opened here not too auspiciously, has been rewritten by them and is now running merrily on Broadway under John Golden's benign sponsorship, will be seen here with the Chicago cast including Otto Hulett, Charles Burrows, Margaret Irving, Josephine McKim and George Calvert.

May 12

WILBUR — "CAREER ANGEL," the Gerard M. Murray play which had its original presentation by a little theater group and was acclaimed by the Broadway critics, will be seen here with Glenn Anders and Whitford Kane heading a large cast. It is an Andrew Billings-Joseph Dicks production, staged by Don Appell and designed by Carl Kent.

May 15

WILBUR—"THE CORN IS GREEN," with Ethel Barrymore in the long-run Emlyn Williams' play, greatest success of her career, will be here for two weeks, closing an enduring run that included two complete trans-continental tours in the city where this most successful play of her successful career originally opened.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday — Last Thursday a delightful fashion show was put on by the Stage Door Canteen in Washington, which is run under the auspices of the American theater wing. They managed to place tables for several hundred people in the theater, which is usually filled with servicemen, and they served a very good cold lunch with hot coffee.

On the stage, a "Washington wartime wardrobe" was paraded before us. The mistress of ceremonies was Miss Arlene Francis, of radio fame, and the models for both juniors and seniors were shown by the most lovely Washington ladies of fashion.

* * *

SOME OF THE DESIGNERS donated dresses which were sold at auction. We were all asked to take chances on a dress donated by Hattie Carnegie. My daughter was the lucky winner, but as she does not feel that she would be quite happy walking around in a $185 dress, she has suggested that Miss Carnegie donate the money to the Stage Door Canteen in whatever way she likes best.

We saw a dress draped and cut for a lady on the stage by Mme. Louise Bruns, and I must say I admire her abandon with the scissors. I am sure that Mrs. A. G. Robinson, who is chairman of the committee putting on this benefit, went home satisfied with a very successful occasion.

* * *

THAT SAME afternoon I went out to the discussion group at Walter Reed Hospital again, and had an opportunity to go through a few of the wards afterwards. The cheerfulness and courage of these boys is something beyond words. It makes me feel that nothing that any of us can do in the future to make sure that their lives are made worthwhile and to this country the kind of place they want it to be must be neglected.

May Mingle With Guests

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: My father does not want to stand in the receiving-line at my wedding reception. It isn't that he is not "sociable" . . . just the reverse, for he insists that he would be more useful if he were free to mingle with the guests, seeing that everyone is taken care of, making introductions and so forth. Mother thinks this is proper, but I am not sure, for I've been to several weddings where the bride's father was in the receiving-line. Now we have decided to do as you suggest. BRIDE-TO-BE.

Often the bride's father does stand in the receiving-line, as you have seen, but very often he does not. Since your father is such a sociable gentleman, I suggest you plan to have him do as he wishes . . . for he'll be a very valuable "aid" at your reception.

Soft Suit Is the Thing This Spring

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE 1944 edition of the Queen of the May may not dance around a maypole, but she's likely to be wearing one of those soft, dressmaker suits that are considered the best kind of clothes for any modern Queen.

As the summer edges nearer, the suits that are being asked for oftenest are those in soft, pretty colors, rather than in the somber neutrals. It looks like our girls have had enough of neutrality for the season. They want color.

Up top in the suit colors is soft chamois yellow, than which there is no other prettier. And the stunning Sophie suit sketched comes in this shade. Sophie, who likes different color unions, puts a vivid emerald green shantung blouse with this suit and lines the jacket in green. The handbag is also green, while the hat is pink and green.

Beauty — New Bronze Camouflage — Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

BE AS BARE AS YOU LIKE . . . come the warm weather . . . with a bronze beauty camouflage that will give you a healthy sun-tan, all-of-a-piece look so eye-captivating and attractive . . . and all-over even smoothness for the skin that has remained modestly hidden during the winter months.

DOLLARS TO doughnuts . . . half the bronze beauties you pass on the street and whom you credit with a basking sojourn in the sunny south . . . never left Tremont st. to get what looks like a Florida suntan . . . so dark, and healthy, and eye-catching.

Comes the first real hot day and you, too, will want to look like a bronze beauty. Of course, for us busy gals who have to wait for week-ends . . . or a snatch of sun now and then . . . the process will be slow and tedious.

But, for an excellent "fool the public" beauty trick for getting over those first difficult hurdles . . . between dried-out pale winter skin . . . and the lovely, luscious tan you'll display later on in the season . . . we have just the thing for now.

WON'T RUB OFF ON CLOTHES

As a matter of fact . . . this camouflage was given in the New York salon of its creator all winter . . . to those gals who wanted a proxy Florida suntan as part of a $200 reconditioning course, if you please . . . in preparation for the bare look that is more and more becoming the new look as summer approaches.

For the first time in many years . . . lots of precious skin that remained modestly hidden will soon be out in the open . . . and what girl wants to expose an anemic whiteness of face, arms and neck?

It's all done . . . this bronze camouflaging . . . with a foundation lotion and a powder lotion combination . . . the one to condition, the other to disguise. When was the last time you took a good look at your upper arms, for instance, or your elbows? And what about the skin on your chest . . . the part that used to come JUST below the high necklines we once wore?

That's where you have to start now with a thorough scrubbing to whisk off dead, dried-out skin . . . and then smoothing on this creamy foundation lotion to soften the skin . . . with its gentle lubricating quality that leaves the skin silky without being sticky.

Once you've done this . . . then apply a matching powder lotion over your arms, back and chest . . . until you've achieved an evenness as your skin itself. This something new won't rub off on clothes . . . or navy blues when you're dancing . . sustaining your disguise in apple-pie order.

For the name of this beauty trick camouflage, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

JUMPER DRESS with a patriotic theme is this blue model banded in flag red . . . in sharp and smart contrast with the ruffle-trimmed blouse of chalky white. Jumpers will be most popular this season . . . with the most fashionable of them styled for a dressed-up look . . . and lending themselves to frequent changes of tricky blouses. Warner star, Irene Manning, models this red, white and blue combination.

Choice Puddings, Sauces

By MARTHA LEE

IF THERE ARE SIGNS of spring fever in your home and everyone seems eager to get outdoors—including the cook, start thinking about ways to speed up meals to make it possible. Save time by serving an occasional springtime meal of soup and salad; then top the menu off with a simple but substantial double-boiler dessert.

There's something intriguing about a double-boiler dessert. It can be as hearty as a baked one, and yet be cooked on top of the stove. All you have to do is to grease the top of your double-boiler generously, pour in the batter, cover tightly and steam over rapidly boiling water.

You'll be delighted, too, when you realize that you can make steamed puddings with only a small amount of shortening, and that they'll be as light and airy as a spring day. Then, if you want some extra delicious fluff, try these sauces. They go easy on sugar without sacrificing one grain of taste.

FIG PUFF PUDDING

1 cup sifted cake flour
2 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tbsp. shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten well
2-3 cup finely chopped figs
½ cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening, adding sugar. Beat in eggs well. Mix chopped figs with dry ingredients and add to sugar mixture alternately with milk. Grease top of double-boiler and fill no more than 2-3 of the boiler. Place over boiling water, and steam about one hour. Serve hot with Tangy Honey Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

TANGY HONEY SAUCE

¼ tbsp. sugar
6 tbsp. flour
½ cup honey
2 cups water
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
Juice of 1 lemon and 1 orange (add rind if desired)

Mix sugar and flour; add honey and water. Cook in top of double-boiler, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in butter or margarine and fruit juice. Add rind. Serve hot with Fig Puff Pudding.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE NUT PUDDING

1 cup sifted flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. shortening
¼ tsp. vanilla
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten well
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup milk
½ cup chopped nuts

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening, adding vanilla and sugar. Add egg and beat well. Add melted chocolate and bland well. Mix nuts with sifted dry ingredients and add to sugar mixture alternately with milk. Grease top of double-boiler, and fill no more than 2/3 of the boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water. Steam one hour. Serve hot with Fluffy Cream Cheese Topping. Makes 6 servings.

FLUFFY CREAM CHEESE TOPPING

1-3 oz. pkg. cream cheese
3 tbsp. powdered sugar
¼ tsp. vanilla
2 tbsp. light cream

Cream the cheese with a fork. Add remaining ingredients and beat well. Serve on hot Nut Pudding.

Watch the Door!

Have a heart . . . hold a door open for the person directly behind you . . . Life is short, but it isn't so short that you need to be so rushed and boorish as to let the door fly back in a person's face. MRS. BEEKMAN.

NEW YORK, May 1—Maria Montez dresses in reverse—always puts on her dress first, then her shoes and stockings . . . Frank Sinatra likes to frequent Toots Shor's because he knows it's one way of getting out of the adulation rut. Toots, no respecter of spellbinders, can be relied upon to make Frankie Boy the target for at least one hearty insult, maybe two . . . Gene Kelly may be a "good audience" in a night club, but he also happens to be the world's champion point-anticipator. While the floor show comic is warming up a gag, Gene invariably whispers the punch line to his table companions. Comedians kill for that, too . . . Ellin (Mrs. Irving) Berlin's most treasured keepsake is a gold cigarette case engraved with the first four bars of "Always"—a gift her husband gave her years ago.

GEORGE JEAN NATHAN'S method of "getting away from it all" is to hie to the Stork Club or 21 and wine and dine all by his lonesome, instead of with a pretty companion . . . Frank Orsatti, the motion picture head, is a real catch for some glamour girl gourmet. He is unquestionably Hollywood's leading amateur chef, and every time he steps into the kitchen, you'll find an all-star cast drooling in the dining room . . . The most expensive toy train in existence is probably the miniature choo-choo brooch worn by Gloria Vanderbilt de Cicco. The locomotive front is a giant star sapphire; lesser sapphires and diamonds stud the car and wheels . . . Bert Lahr smokes five or six cigars consecutively before he goes on stage—just a few puffs of each, then he stamps them out . . . Tallulah Bankhead takes out a comb and runs it through her smooth blond hair several times in the course of a conversation, no matter where she is. It's an unconscious habit.

N. T. G. DRIVES Hollywood celebrities mad at his Florentine gardens by pointing to them, focusing the spotlight on them, and introducing them by the wrong names. They don't think it's a bit funny . . . Moss Hart slumbers with a mask over his eyes . . . Paul Whiteman, that exotic character, likes to arrange his musical programs in heavily-scented rooms and often has several Chinese Buddhas puffing away at him, giving off incense while he toils . . . Postmaster Albert Goldman is an avid stamp collector—and why not? . . . The brilliant brooch which Leonora Corbett wears most often was once a buckle on the shoe of Charles III. An old fiance gave it to her . . . Mike Todd, with characteristic prodigality, doesn't smoke a cigar beyond four inches . . . Most orderly executive in show business is Maj. Edward Bowes. A misplaced receipt from a department store can send him into a frenzy of sleuthing.

DON'T EVER let Harry Richman borrow your fountain pen. He'll alter its point with a nail file before he uses it, because he likes blunt points—the point killer! . . . Hedy Lamarr is a miniature collector—anything at all, as long as it's tiny. . . . Lou Walters' favorite diversion is studying the Thesaurus—in search of new adjectives. And what does he do with them? He puts them in his Latin Quarter ads . . . Sophie Tucker always receives dozens of boxes of flowers when she opens at a night club—but she prefers fresh asparagus.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, May 1—Fredric March, while he was making "The Adventures of Mark Twain," walked into the Warner commissary in make-up. He looked so much like the character he was portraying that many people didn't recognize him immediately.

Fredric March

Jack Benny, who was also making a picture, walked by March, then realized who it was and said, "Hello, Freddie." March continued walking. "How do you like that," said Benny. "That March is made up so good he doesn't recognize me."

On the set he likes to sit in his trailer and study his lines quietly by himself. Then, if it is an important scene, he likes to read it over with the player who appears with him. Once he faces the camera he knows how he wants to play the scene, and generally does it that way.

He started his theatrical career using his real name, Frederick McIntyre Bickel. When John Cromwell signed him to a stage contract, he said: "You'll have to change your name. Bickel isn't good. It isn't romantic. It rhymes with pickel."

★ ★ ★

BICKEL'S MOTHER'S name was Marcher. He shortened it to March. He also shortened the Frederick to Fredric. His nickname used to be "Bottles." Now they just call him Freddie.

He is six feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. His right shoulder is much lower than his left. The right shoulder pads of his suits have to be raised so the shoulders will appear on the same level. He is fond of eating; practically any dish is his favorite, and he has to watch his weight.

He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is an Alpha Delta Phi fraternity man. These days his favorite fraternity is the Screen Actors' Guild.

He is fond of keeping accounts, and for a while he used to list the household expenses. He has an elaborate bookkeeping system, and can tell you what he's worth to the penny.

He trouped for a long time before he got his big opportunity in pictures. He appeared in many Broadway shows, but he never was a star in a Broadway hit until he played in "The American Way." His most recent Broadway show was "The Skin of Our Teeth."

HE IS MARRIED to Florence Eldridge, who was better known on Broadway than he was until he made good in pictures. They met while they were members of a Denver stock company and were playing the romantic leads in Molnar's "The Swan."

Of all the roles he has portrayed, his favorite is that of the washed up actor, Norma Maine, in "A Star Is Born." There are many who believed that he preferred the dual role in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," for he loves to toy with make-up. He is the kind of an actor who will avoid wearing a wig whenever possible and let his hair grow for the role as he did in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." When he plays a character on the screen, he is a little bit of that character about the house. He stays with it.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: Next to the impossibly heavy impost on the nightclubs of the month-old 30 per cent "death tax," the tax item winning most complaints is the 20 per cent tariff on ladies' handbags. . . . The girls say that a handbag is no more a luxury than a man's inside coat-pocket, and that, furthermore, most of the handbags now being offered to the public, at very high prices, are made of cloth . . . Cloth is one item that there seems to be plenty of, in spite of the war . . . The 30 per cent cabaret tax has been tested now for four weeks . . . Optimistic hopes of some nightclub operators that the customers would soon shrug it off, and would swarm again to the glitter-spots with the same enthusiasm they show for exorbitantly-priced "nylon" hose, and black-market gasoline at 10-25 cent "premiums," have now faded.

★ ★ ★

THE NET LOSS the past week of the two best-known Boston nightclubs, both playing "names," amounted to $7000-plus . . . Two other nightclubs, one of them being in a downtown hotel, are cancelling entertainment and dancing . . . Rumors from Washington that Congress will abate the tax by reducing it from one-half to one-third are not substantial enough to offset the current and prospective heavy losses . . . Unless Congress works quickly, cities like Boston and Philadelphia—or Chicago, even—will be bare of first class nightclubs this summer . . . Whether one cares little, or not at all, about the extinction of most of the country's nightclubs does not seem important . . . Twenty thousand (at least) entertainers are faced with the prospect of work in war-plants (if they can get it), and Uncle Sam is threatened not only with the loss of that 90 millions "promised" by the 30 per cent cabaret tax but the loss of the 30-40 millions paid in 1943 by the smaller, but collectable tax which prevailed then.

★ ★ ★

GASOLINE RATIONING C-BOOKS are selling in the New York black market for $5 each . . . And Boston is flooded with phony nylons, bearing the Dupont white-lettered stamp, and the similarly-phony marking "Grade-A nylon" . . . These cheap all-rayon hose are selling at $5 to $6.50 per copy . . . Orchids are selling at $7 each in the nightclubs—but not fast . . . Gardenias, formerly sold in Winter st. at 10 cents each, are being peddled for $1.50 each in some of the cabaret flower-shops (generally located in the men's retiring room.)

★ ★ ★

THE JOHN A. (TONY) BREENS of Dorchester are rejoicing at the arrival of another boy, Peter . . . The father was former head of the Boston purchasing department and the Boston housing authority . . . Among the Boston naval officers present at the first anniversary celebration in the Captain's Cabin Ballroom at the Myles Standish of the marriage of the Leo Fitzgeralds (Mildred Murray) of Cambridge were Comdrs. George Powers and William J. Maguire, and Lieuts. Fred McLaughlin and Jim Dooley, son of the Narragansett racetrack's boss.

THE RESTAURANT-OPENING which was the talk of the town this spring launched the Grotto, in Hanover st. under auspices of Henry Noyes, Tommy Barton and Leroy Montague, the triumvirate which once ran the old Broadway Club . . . The debut was so auspicious that it was split in two sections, like the Wood Memorial, for instance, at Jamaica . . . Both nights were overflowing with customers, good will and good liquor . . . And the place, featuring marvelous Italian food and good steaks, was a sellout from the start.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY — You are keen, take an enthusiastic interest in life's activities. Especially like building, engineering and music. JOAN BLONDELL

Famous Hollywood screen star writes

"You bet I use Arrid! I wouldn't be without its wonderful protection for a moment. Some people may think it isn't nice to talk about underarm perspiration, but it's a whole lot worse to neglect perspiration and have it spoil a dress you treasure. So I unhesitatingly shout the praises of Arrid deodorant cream."

Asthma Mucus Loosened First Day

For Thousands of Sufferers

Choking, gasping, wheezing, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin your sleep and rob your blood of vitally important oxygen because you can't get air in and out of your lungs properly. But now it is no longer necessary to suffer from these terrible attacks without the benefit you may receive from a physician's prescription called Mendaco. Within a very short time after the first dose, Mendaco ingredients start circulating thru the blood, thus reaching the smallest as well as the largest Bronchial tubes where they usually quickly help liquefy, loosen and remove thick strangling mucus (phlegm), thereby promoting freer breathing and more restful sleep. Get Mendaco from your druggist today. Take it exactly as directed and see the results in your own particular case. Under our guarantee unless completely satisfied you simply return the empty package and get your money back. Three guaranteed sizes. Only 60c, $1.25, and $2.50 at your druggist.

Boy Saves Cat Three Days in Tree

Sixteen-year-old Leo Pacheco of Gore st., Cambridge, was a neighborhood hero today for helping to rescue a cat which, for three days, had defied all efforts of police and firemen to dislodge him from the upper reaches of a 60-foot poplar tree in a Cambridge st. back yard.

James Connaughton, Animal Rescue League agent, also was called but he, too, failed.

Young Pacheco climbed halfway up the tree, and, taking the pole used by the rescue agent, snared the cat and returned the pole to Connaughton who brought the animal down.

$80,000 in Purses for Four Bay State Fairs

By JACK CONWAY

THERE WILL be $80,000 in purses at the four Massachusetts fairs—Marshfield, Brockton, Northampton and Great Barrington . . . There will be four weeks of racing for the half-milers, starting with the Marshfield meeting on Aug. 29.

Charley Langille and Ernie Sparrell for Marshfield, Frank Kingman for Brockton, Mace McDonald, Eli LeGasse and John L. Banner of Northampton and Eddie Carroll for Great Barrington have mapped out what should be the most attractive Fair program in the history of this state . . . Jimmy Piccarelli will be racing secretary at Marshfield. Brockton and Great Barrington, while Eben Pons will serve at Northampton.

Bayard Tuckerman, Jr.

For a time it was believed that Topsfield would join the Fair circuit, but the management of the North Shore organization has decided not to conduct a Fair this year . . . It is believed that in the postwar period Topsfield will decide to conduct its first parimutuel racing . . . In the past there has been trotting and pacing at Topsfield, while Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., and other lovers of the jumpers have shown their best stock.

The Massachusetts Fairs have adopted a long range planning program . . . They intend to do everything possible to improve their plants and the kind of racing that is offered.

Many of the horses that will show at Pascoag's half-mile meeting, from May 20 through July 8, will later appear on the Fair circuit . . . With the fairs offering $80,000 in purses, many horsemen will be eager to ship here.

Eddie Carroll tells me that as soon as the war ends he will install a "tote" at Great Barrington . . . He was anxious to make this improvement this year, but was unable to get the desired equipment.

Sal Bartolo Arrives

SAL BARTOLO of East Boston, former All-America champion who went on to win the NBA featherweight crown from Phil Terranova, has arrived in town from New York to finish training for his 15-round title tussle with Terranova that will be held at the Garden on Friday night under the direction of the Goodwin A. C. . . . This dispels any thought that Bartolo will not be ready for his skirmish with Terranova . . . This bout, which was originally scheduled to be held last Friday night, was postponed when Bartolo found he required more time in which to make weight.

Bartolo is a member of the Merchant Marine and his duties in that service made it impossible for him to start his training as early as he wished . . . Bartolo rules a favorite over Terranova in the early betting . . . This is natural in view of the fact Bartolo outscored Terranova in their last meeting.

Valdina Horses Classy

VALDINA PUNCH and Valdina Alpha would have made a good parlay at Narragansett Park on Saturday . . . Valdina Punch, coming through on the rail to win, paid $4.60 while Pine Tree Stable's Valdina Alpha returned $4.80 . . . Billy Ames, publicity director at Narragansett Park, considers Valdina Alpha the best sprinter on the grounds . . . This speedy thoroughbred had George McMullen of Fall River up . . . Valdina Alpha broke on top and was never headed . . . It was necessary for Valdina Punch to get through on the rail to win . . . Jockey Harry Pratt proved he had plenty of patience when he waited and took the shortest way home.

The handle of $1,411,027 at Narragansett Park on Saturday was further proof of the popularity of racing and the fact the betting public is plentifully supplied with fresh money.

Hunt Beats Mexican

MEXICO CITY, May 1 (INS)—Lieut. Joe Hunt of the U. S. Navy, American tennis champion, defeated Armando Vega, champion of Mexico, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3, 6—2. Hunt was in complete control at all times, but Vega fought hard enough to make it an interesting match.

Sox, Senators Open 3 Tilt Series Here

By BILL GRIMES

Instead of resting up after a Sunday double-header, which is the usual wartime procedure, the Red Sox open a three-game series with the Washington Senators this afternoon at Fenway Park.

Although the even break his Red Sox got with the Athletics didn't set well with him, Manager Joe Cronin was all smiles this morning and passing out Coronas right and left, in honor of the third heir, a daughter which arrived late yesterday afternoon.

The Red Sox are beginning to get straightened away. They've played .500 ball for 10 games, against the Yankees, Athletics and Senators.

Considering that Joe Cronin has been obliged to revamp his pitching corps, plus the fact that the club has not been hitting, the Red Sox have done remarkably well to be an even .500 going into the month of May.

Before the players reported for spring training, Cronin's biggest problem was pitching. With "Tex" Hughson, Dick Newsome and Mace Brown called by the armed forces, Yank Terry and Oscar Judd, due to their experience, were Cronin's top-ranking pitchers.

To date, Terry has been charged with two defeats and Judd has not seen any mound duty. Terry was relieved by Mike Ryba in the opening game of the season with the Yankees and last week he dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the Senators down in the Capital City. After the game in Washington, Terry came up with a cold, or something, in his left shoulder.

Oscar Judd is still receiving treatments for the shoulder injury, which forced him out of the lineup last season. One afternoon a year ago, shortly afted mid-season, Judd was at bat and when he attempted to bunt, the ball drove the bat back against his left shoulder and he was practically through for the year. He received daily treatments from Win Green and even was examined by Dr. Hyland in St. Louis, who was unable to find anything radically wrong.

Soon after he joined the Red Sox in the Tufts cage in March, Judd reported that his shoulder was bothering him. And, aside from going in as a pinch hitter, Judd hadn't done anything to earn his salary.

Virgil Johnson will make his debut in the box for the Red Sox this afternoon. He is a very promising left-hander and Joe Cronin is anxious to have him take his regular turn. Roger Wolfe, the knuckle baller, will be on the hilltop for the Senators.

With Terry losing both of his starts and Judd still unavailable for service, the Red Sox would have been battling the White Sox for last place but for the fact that George Woods, Emmett O'Neil, Joe Bowman, Mike Ryba and "Tex" Hughson, who reported last week, took over.

Hub School Teams Need Board's Aid

By MIKE GILLOOLY

As the Boston schoolboys move into the most crucial week of their baseball schedule thus far this season, we believe it the appropriate time for the school committee, slated to meet tomorrow afternoon, to focus its attention on the plight of its teams.

It's been almost two months now since the Headmasters ruled that Boston schoolboys could not participate in post season activities—and there's been nothing done about it.

Mayor Tobin intended to speak to each of the Headmasters individually to "feel them out on it." To date, there's been no announcement from City Hall as to the response of the Headmasters. Maybe they just intend to ignore any plans that might have developed to put the championship Boston football team against the Suburban titleholder in Harvard Stadium next fall (the mayor's brain child).

NO ORGANIZED LEAGUE

Maybe it's necessary to point out to school committee members Mike Ward, Dr. Pat Foley, Clem Norton, Joe White and Dan McDevitt, that the Boston schoolboys are playing baseball without any hope of ever being recognized as champions. As a matter of fact, they haven't even an organized league which could at least bring up a city champion.

This week's schedule will bring it home fully to all followers of school baseball.

English High School, with four straight victories in its wake, was to open its program against the High School of Commerce today and then battle Norwood and Medford Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Just incidentally, Norwood, with 10-lettermen back on its squad, is defending state champion. Medford is defending cotitlist of the Greater Boston circuit.

SHOULD BE IN PLAYOFFS

Just where would English stand if the Blue and Blue whips both teams and then, in turn, both go on to qualify for the Eastern state championship play in the big league ball parks? English will never have a chance to prove that the victories weren't flukes—unless the school committee demands a showdown.

Coach Bill Ohrenberger's English team has romped to victories over Charlestown (13-2), Roxbury Memorial (11-1), Brookline (7-3) and Hyde Park (13-1). There was a good possibility that the romp would continue this week with Giles Powell ready to toe the mound today, Tom Buckley in line for a crack at Norwood Wednesday and Powell coming back for Medford Thursday.

As schools representing the capital of the Commonwealth, the Schoolboy Writers Association should make it a point to include a Boston school in the championship play-offs. It should be imperative!

We're for it but it's up to the School Committee to pave the way.

Braves Meet Brooklyn Next

PHILADELPHIA, May 1—The disconsolate Boston Braves are resting today before journeying on to Brooklyn where they meet the equally disconsolate Durocher-men tomorrow and Wednesday. Today it must be admitted that all the nice things that have been said about the Tribal pitching corps are true but it is also true that Manager Bob Coleman is at his wits' end wondering what must be done to get a few solid clouts to help his long suffering pitchers win a game.

There were more than 30,000 rabid local fans in the stands yesterday who razzed and then admired Al Javery who toiled for 14 innings only to lose the decision when Whitey Wietelmann tossed the ball and game away by a low throw.

Then in the nightcap Ira Hutchinson did yeoman work for the Braves for the regulation distance and still came near losing until Butch Nieman connected for four bases and knotted the score at 2 all just before the game had to be called because of the curfew. Jim Tobin stepped into the picture in the ninth to hold the score safely tied up. Javery allowed only three hits in the first 10 innings of the opener.

Friends Honor Herb Pennock

PHILADELPHIA, May 1 (AP)—Some 600 of his fellow burghers from nearby Kennett sq. turned out at Shibe Park to honor Herb Pennock, general manager of the Phillies.

And they presented the genial Pennock—an antique lover from away back as some of the ages on the Phillies' roster will attest—with a 200-year-old desk for his study.

U. S. Wins at Soccer

CLEVELAND, May 1 (AP)—Johnny Havrilek slipped the ball past Goalie Jimmy Collins for the only score in the game as the Cleveland Americans shut out the Toronto King Edward soccer team 1 to 0 before 1000. E. J. Bisker, British counsel here, made the opening kickoff.

208,943 Pay to See Sabbath Games

Baseball gave its answer to the sceptics when a grand total of 208,943 persons paid their way in to witness the eight Sunday double-headers. The American League twin-bills attracted 109,987 fans and the National League drew 98,956 people.

The largest crowd, 58,066 of which 52,037 were paid admissions, gathered in the Polo Grounds and saw the Brooklyn Dodgers come back and win 5-4, to gain an even split after the New York Giants had won the opener, 26-8. The Giants' run total was only two shy of the major league mark set by the St. Louis Cardinals against the Philadelphia Phillies July 6, 1929.

NEAR TIEING RECORD

Phil Weintraub, slugging Giant first baseman, drove in 11 runs in the game to fall one short of tieing the league record of 12, established by Jim Bottomley of the Cardinals Sept. 6, 1924.

Manager Mel Ott set two records when he received five bases on balls for the fourth time in his career and scored six runs for the second time.

The Giants also tied an old mark established by Brooklyn in 1903 when they received 17 bases on balls from five Dodger pitchers.

Added to the general confusion, Manager Leo Durocher was ordered from the game for his first banishment of the season. Joe Medwick was hit by a flying pop bottle after the game and was forced to sit out the final.

The St. Louis Cardinals retained their first place standing in the National League by taking both ends of a double bill from the Chicago Cubs, 5-0 and 7-5. Max Lanier hurled his second shutout of the season in the opener and rookie Ted Wilks won the nightcap to hand the Cubs their ninth straight defeat.

BROWNS SPLIT

The St. Louis Browns split their two games with the Chicago White Sox to retain possession of first place in the American League. The Browns won the second game 5-4 for their tenth success after losing the opener 6-5 in 10 innings.

The New York Yankees jumped into a tie with the Philadelphia Athletics for second place by winning two close games from the Washington Senators, 2-1 and 3-2. Ernie Bonham gave up five hits to win his first game in the opener.

A crowd of 38,940, second largest in two years at Briggs Stadium, watched the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers divide their two games. The Indians won the first, 3-1, and the Tigers captured the second, 4-2 The Indians captured the series, however, three games to one.

The Cincinnati Reds came back to win the second game, 4-1, behind Bucky Walter to gain an even split with the Pittsburgh Pirates, after the Pirates had knocked out Elmer Riddle to win the opener, 7-1, behind the six-hit pitching of Nick Strincevich.

Olympics Edged In Seattle by 5-4

SEATTLE, May 1 (AP)—Eddie Trites, left wing for the Vancouver Maple Leafs, broke through to score two closing minute goals for a 6-4 triumph over the touring Boston Olympics hockey team last night.

The win gave Vancouver, champions of the Northwest Hockey League, the deciding edge in their three-game series, each team previously taking a single decision.

8 Teams Open In Park Loop

Eight teams have been selected from the several applicants and all is in readiness for the opening of Bill Mullen's "after dinner" loop—the Boston Park League—today.

Five of the teams are old favorites having played at least one year in the league, while the other three, while new to the Park loop, are all well known throughout the city.

The returning members are the Dick Casey Club of Dorchester; the Linehan Club; Hal Crosby Club of Roxbury; the Navy Yard A. A. and the Watertown Arsenal. The most popular of the newcomers is the West Roxbury A. A. that was formerly known as the Vin Murphy Club of West Roxbury. While playing under its old name the club met every semi-pro team, including service teams, with great success. The other new teams are the Hicks Engineering Co. of Hyde Park and the Trailway Limited, representing the Greyhound Bus Co.

Because of re-sodding work going on at several Boston playgrounds some of the teams will have two home fields. The Casey Club will open at Dorchester Town Field, but will soon shift to Garvey Playground in Neponset. Linehan will shift from the Fens to Jefferson Park and the Arsenal goes from Fallon to Healy Field in Roslindale. The West Roxbury Club will play at Billings; Hicks at Readville and Trailway at the Common.

Bobby Jones III May Be Golf Ace

CHATTTANOOGA, Tenn., May 1 (AP)—At 17, Robert Tyre Jones III is showing signs that heredity handed him a sizeable slice of the talent that his famous father employed to make a grand slam sweep on world golf crowns.

The famous Bobby Jones was 14 when he made his debut in national competition in the 1916 U. S. amateur championship tournament and he was 38 when he left off tournament trailing.

Young Robert is a captain of the golf team at Baylor School for Boys. The protege-son of "the ole master," who now is a lieutenant-colonel in the Army Air Forces Intelligence in England, is an all-around student and besides adeptness at golf and football, has consistentdw made the schedule honor roll.

He's bigger now than his father was at the same age, tipping the scales at 195, and has one other potent advantage—he uses a set of clubsdesigned by the elder Jones, which doubtless is based on experience his father gained in 15 years of competitive play.

A favorite club of the youth is his "Calamity Jane, Jr.," a replica of his father's famous putter. Using it, hehasn't been defeated this year in Chattanooga City or Mid-south Prep School Ass'n match play.

Upon graduation in June, he expects to enter Georgia Tech, where his father finished in 1922.

HUNT MEXICO VICTOR

MEXICO CITY, May 1 (AP)—Lieut. Joe Hunt, U. S. tennis star, won his first match in an exhibition tour beating Armando Vega, Mexico's No. 1 player, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2, yesterday.

Pork Without Points—Grinning from ear to ear, these Marion, Ill., boys hold two little pigs given away in the public square of their home town by George C. Champ, a local farmer, who disposed of his entire litter of 18 pigs. Champ said he could no longer feed the pigs because of the government corn-freeze order.

Buffalo Bill

Still a little wobbly, a buffalo bull calf, named "Buffalo Bill," sticks close to his mother as he makes his camera debut at the Grant Park zoo in Atlanta, Ga. Mother severely injured and trampled a zoo keeper and slightly injured his companion when they attempted to drive little Bill to the fence to have his picture taken.
